1. Area Variances

- * 1. Whether an undesirable change will be produced in the character of the neighborhood or a detriment to nearby properties;
2. Whether the benefit sought by the applicant can be achieved by some method, feasible for the applicant to pursue, other than an area variance;
3. Whether the requested area variance is substantial;
4. Whether the proposed variance will have an adverse effect or impact on the physical or environmental conditions in the neighborhood or district;
5. Whether the alleged difficulty was self-created, which consideration shall be relevant to the decision of the ZBA but shall not necessarily preclude the granting of the area variance.

Here are my answers to the 5 questions:

- 1) No, the project and the variance would produce absolutely no undesirable change in the character of the neighborhood, and be no detriment to nearby properties, because the new deck would be for personal use, completely within my backyard, which is quite private, and I intend it to be attractive. FYI - I'm a retired senior citizen and I live alone. I have good relationships with my neighbors.
- 2) No. The benefit that I seek is a deck with the best river view available to me within my backyard. The spot that could best provide that benefit would be from the far end of the new deck, elevated to the level of the existing back porch. I could not achieve this benefit without being elevated and closer than 15' from the rear property line.
- 3) No, the requested area of the variance is not substantial. It is only 7', roughly half of the normal 15' setback. It should also be noted that my neighbors' home on 10 Farrington is on a very deep lot, so their house is not close to our property line, as shown in the 3rd photo below.
- 4) No, the proposed project and variance will have absolutely no adverse effect or impact on the physical or environmental conditions in the neighborhood or district. As noted above, the new deck would be for personal use, completely within my backyard, which is quite private, and I intend it to be attractive. FYI - I'm a retired senior citizen and I live alone.
- 5) No, the "alleged" difficulty which the variance could resolve was not self-created. As you can see from the survey, my lot and my backyard are quite small. The 2nd photo below shows that the view from my backyard is limited by trees and buildings between me and the river. I have no control over those obstacles; but there is a "sweet spot" in my yard with a fairly nice view. I have owned my home for almost 30 years, and have not made changes that impact this project or have reduced my river view.

Picture ending in 705 is the approximate location of the proposed new deck.

Picture ending in 900 is the river view from the proposed deck.

Picture ending in 355 is taken from the back porch of 9 Bank Street. The patch of yellow is the back of 10 Farrington. This picture was taken today. There is more greenery between the 2 houses in the summer.
