Congratulations! The New York Planning Federation's Awards Committee met earlier today and awarded Adam Decker and Nance Shatzkin the Levine Community Service Award. Their award is a tribute to the fine work they have accomplished and to the high quality of your application package. I will leave it up to you to deliver the good news to them!

Adam and Nance will be recognized at our NYPF Annual Conference luncheon at the Otesaga Hotel, Cooperstown, New York on April 7, 2025 at noon. If they, or anyone else in your community wishes to attend the Conference, our registration information is located on our website at www.nypf.org. You may use our registration page to register solely for the luncheon if you wish. Every person who attends the luncheon must register and pay for lunch no later than March 17, 2025.

Please let me know as soon as possible if Adam and Nance, or others associated with his award, will attend the luncheon. A representative from NYPF will introduce them and speak on why they were honored with this award. In addition, both of them, and one other person, may offer a few brief comments.
